

Coffin Without Body Traced To Spook Show

By Don Allen
A CASKET found in Stroud Township yesterday, resulting in an investigation by State Police and county authorities, was revealed last night as a prop for a "spook show."

State Police closed their investigation of the case after Stanley Lecinsky, Stroudsburg RD 3, operator of a drive-in theater at Bartonsville, told investigators he placed the coffin in the shower room of the old CLU Park in Stroud Township.

Used By Lodge
Lecinsky told troopers he obtained the casket from a trash collector. It was believed it had originally been used in lodge initiations prior to the collector's acquiring it.

Daniel G. Warner, Monroe County coroner, said last night he will destroy the coffin.

An investigation was started after James Allam, 47, Stroudsburg RD 3, reported discovery of the casket, with the lid lying on the floor beside it, yesterday.

He told Troopers Alexander G. Kearn and Peter A. Walsh that he had noticed it in the building several times since Jan. 20, but attached no particular importance to it.

Not There Jan. 17

Allam said he was in the building on Sunday, Jan. 17, and that it was not there then. Three days later, the Peter Zuck contracting firm of Belvidere, N.J., began tearing down the Stroud Roller Rink, a few feet from the shower room, and the casket was discovered by Allam.

The coffin's size, about five feet long by 16 inches wide on the inside, indicated it may have been used to bury a child, a woman or a small man.

Trooper Ralph Cameron, a State Police photographer from the Hazleton barracks, was called to the scene to photograph the casket. Warner planned to ask an expert from a Scranton casket manufacturing company to examine it.

Several hours later, as word of the investigation spread throughout the community, came the first hint that the coffin was not as old as it appeared. Investigators at first estimated it was about 50 years old.

Pink Lining
Two of its four handles were torn off and were lying beside it. The other two were falling from the box. Brass on the casket had turned green, while other fastenings were rusted.

The lining was pink-hued, apparently faded by age. This led investigators to believe a woman might have been buried in it. The lid appeared to have been forced off.

The shower room was formerly used in conjunction with the park swimming pool. It has not been used by the club since the 1955 flood destroyed most park facilities.

The last time the adjacent roller rink was used was on Jan. 17, the date Allam inspected the shower room for the last time before the casket was found.

Nixon Vote Helps Kill Clark Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Wednesday night turned down on a tie vote a Democratic-sponsored proposal to double the size of the school aid bill and Vice President Richard M. Nixon then helped seal defeat of the measure.

The proposal, sponsored by Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.) and 22 other senators, first lost on a 44-41 tie tally after one Republican in favor of it switched to withdraw his vote.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) then moved to reconsider the vote in an effort to change the result. Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) countered with a move to table and thus kill the reconsideration proposal.

Breaks Tie
The vote on the Dirksen proposal again was 44-41 but Vice President Nixon then moved into the presiding officer's chair and broke the tie to put over the Dirksen motion 45-44. This had the effect of killing any chance to revive the Clark amendment.

Later the Senate put off further voting on the measure until Thursday.

The Pennsylvania senator's proposal would have set up a $1,100,000 grant program to the states in the first year—$25 for each pupil in the nation. It also would have made funds available for teachers' salaries as well as new school buildings and continued the entire $25 per pupil program indefinitely.

Earlier, the Senate defeated on a standing vote a proposal of Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) to broaden the purposes for which the $1,100,000,000 in federal grants would have been used.

Provisions
Magnuson's language would have permitted the money to be used for any purpose for which a state now spends for education. Before rejecting the Clark and Magnuson proposal, the Senate had voted down two other alternative proposals. They were:

1. A proposal that 200 million dollars of the tax money from cigarettes be set aside for educational purposes. A voice vote killed this.

2. A proposal that the federal government supply $2,974,000,000 over the next 30 years for new school buildings. A 71-18 roll-call vote knocked that out.

Sen. Norris Cotton (R-N.H.) offered the cigarette tax plan, but said he knew all along it wouldn't be adopted. It went too far to suit some and not far enough to suit others, he said.

The second proposal defeated was offered by Sens. John C. Cooper (R-Ky.) and Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.). Its 30-year total of almost three billion dollars would have gone to meet one-half of the interest and principal payments on four billion dollars worth of bonds to be issued by needy school districts.

Mine Passage
COALBROOK, South Africa (AP)—A nine-inch tongs drill Thursday penetrated the mine passage 500 feet below the surface at the Clydesdale colliery where 435 miners have been buried 13 days.

If possible, water, air and a microphone will be sent through the borehole in an attempt to learn the fate of the 429 African and six white miners.

A so-called witness before the Senate committee was Gus Hall, the American Communist's new general secretary and head of the party organization. He was even more close-mouthed than Davis.

Invokes Fifth
Hall, who invoked the Fifth Amendment repeatedly in 1½ hours of questioning Tuesday, did the same 88 times in 40 minutes Wednesday. He was questioned by subcommittee counsel J. G. Sourwine about writings attributed to Hall and William Z. Foster, former U. S. Communist party head.

Limited Help For Allies

Ike Urges Easing Of Nuclear Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower recommended informally Wednesday liberalization of the law which forbids putting nuclear weapons in the hands of America's allies. This could stir up a storm in Congress.

The former general also gave the back of his hand to present-day generals who, he said, "have a parochial viewpoint that they know more than their bosses. That was a fling at Gen. Thomas S. Power, chief of the Strategic Air Command."

Power contends that 300 Soviet missiles could knock out the U. S. retaliatory bomber and missile forces in 30 minutes and that his command should operate a continuous airborne alert.

This position is at odds with that of Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr., the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Nathan F. Twining, and the President himself.

Eisenhower also came out about as far as he could, without breaking his own political ground rules, for Vice President Richard M. Nixon, for the Republican presidential nomination.

The Republicans, he told his news conference, have a number of big, eminent men who could serve as president with distinction. But he said it is his policy not to talk about one individual until the nomination is a matter of history, since "we're all human, and we don't know what is around the next corner."

He said, though, that he is sure Nixon isn't unaware of his admiration and respect and he wants to make it clear that by no manner or means is he dissatisfied with the man who looks like the nominee. There isn't a Nixon challenger in sight and Eisenhower declined to name others in the GOP he thinks might do for president.

How far the admiration might go toward prodding Congress to change the legal ban on giving nuclear weapons to allies is not yet apparent.

Some members of Congress are inclined to shudder at the thought of giving to even the friendliest of nations custody and control of weapons with which they could start a nuclear war.

From the very beginning, Eisenhower said, he has held the belief that the United States should not deny its allies what the potential enemy already has.

"We do want allies to be treated as partners and allies," he said, "and not as junior members of a firm who are to be seen but not heard."

There is no one else in France who would stand a chance of accomplishing this.

Feeling Of All
This is the feeling of nearly all political parties of France. Except for the conservative parties the fascist groups, de Gaulle has received a resounding support.

Newspapers have denounced the insurgents and have given their support to de Gaulle.

Some say a referendum would be the best way to test the will of the country and the faith in de Gaulle. Possibility of such a move was discussed recently by de Gaulle and his ministers. But there will be no immediate action on such a plan.

While de Gaulle has general support of metropolitan France, his position remains critical. Criticism, leveled against his policy of non-action since his September 16 declaration of auto-determination, has been increasing in the past two months.

Leftist Group
Few know precisely what de Gaulle means to do in the application of self-determination. He has been pushed to negotiate with rebel authorities, which he has refused to do. Since September 16 the government has taken little initiative toward negotiation.

This criticism of non-action is that of various leftist groups. The criticism of selling out Algeria to the Moslems through the policy of self-determination is that of the conservative and ultra parties.

The events of Jan. 24 in Algeria have the aura of a coup d'etat. The feeling now is that there was a good deal of preparation by various rightist groups for this day.

The aim of the insurrection would seem to be one of two things: (1) Either to force de Gaulle to give up his policy of self-determination or (2) to accomplish a change in the present regime with the eviction of de Gaulle from power.

The latter will may be the basic truth of the matter. For it is becoming increasingly evident that the leaders of the insurrection have this end in mind.

As in the May 13 coup d'etat, the army is the important and perhaps decisive element. There is little doubt that certain leaders of the Algerian army were in contact with the activists long before Jan. 24.

The fact that rioters were well armed for the uprising and the fact that they were allowed to gather with little interference from the forces of order cannot be denied. In the days that followed that original outbreak, the insurgents were reinforced with arms, food and other necessary equipment without the slightest intervention from the army.

DeGaulle Will Do His Duty, Report From France Notes

By David Ottaway

PARIS—
"As for me, I will do my duty.
Vivre la France!"

THESE were the closing words of President de Gaulle's message over Radio - Algiers, Monday, following the clash between Army and insurgents which took 30 lives and wounded 150.

Excitement
In Paris runs high. What does de Gaulle mean by "duty?" How is metropolitan France reacting towards de Gaulle and the Algerian crisis?

De Gaulle is determined to follow a policy of self-determination. He has recently reaffirmed this policy in the face of bitter opposition from rightist groups.

"With the government, in agreement with Parliament, called and supported by the nation, I took control as head of state in order to restore our country, and particularly in order to make triumph in troubled Algeria, by uniting all her communities, a solution which will be French."

Such is the aim of de Gaulle. It is a super-human task in a bitterly divided nation. But

Snyder Note Answered By Goddard

FORESTS and Waters Secretary Maurice K. Goddard said yesterday that Stroudsburg Borough has had all the information it needs to acquire the necessary rights of way for the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg Flood Control Project since April 10, 1959.

Goddard said in Harrisburg that it is unnecessary for the borough to await final engineering plans before condemning properties needed for the big project, as claimed by Borough Manager Harold Snyder in a letter to Goddard on Feb. 1.

In a letter to Snyder Goddard said that all the information necessary for condemnation was clearly set forth in plans sent to both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg last April.

Drawings Prepared
Goddard commented: "As stated in my letter of April 10, 1959, right of way drawings were prepared for the Stroudsburg Flood Protection project in order to allow the boroughs of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg to commence land acquisition."

"If you will reexamine these plans, you will find that the right of way drawings numbers C 45-1A1 through A10 have been signed and are not marked preliminary."

"The limits of the project are clearly shown on these plans and it is not necessary for the borough to have the final condemnation drawings to start condemnation proceedings."

"Actually, the construction drawings only show more details for the construction of levees, pumping plant, and other facilities. The right of way lines are the same as on the right of way drawings. As stated in your letter, Mr. Hess has completed the preparation of property maps and these maps should now be available for condemnation proceedings."

Agreement Not Signed
Goddard said in the letter that the borough has still not completed the necessary agreements for the Flood Control Project, although they were sent to the boroughs last April.

The letter states: "I believe it should also be pointed out that, as of this date, the agreement, which was transmitted to you by letter dated April 23, 1959, has not been executed and returned to the department for signature by the Governor. The agreement should be signed and returned to me immediately."

The letter concludes: "As stated in my letter of Jan. 27, 1960, we propose to have the final plans available Feb. 15, 1960. As soon as the plans are available, copies will be transmitted to both the borough of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg. In the meantime, land acquisition should not be delayed since you now have sufficient signed drawings to allow you to obtain the required rights of way."

Largest Of Kind
Goddard said in Harrisburg that it was "hard to understand why the borough has been so slow in taking the necessary steps for this project. This project is the largest flood control project of its kind that the state has ever built. It amazes me that after the floods in 1955, the borough would be so slow in getting this project under way."

Goddard said that the project was originally offered on June 21, 1957 and that it was not until April 18, 1958 that the Stroudsburg Council passed a resolution accepting sponsorship of the project. East Stroudsburg accepted sponsorship on Jan. 7, 1958.

Goddard said that right of way plans were sent on April 10, 1959. On Dec. 23, 1959, the department made some minor changes in the plans at the request of the borough in order to reduce land damage.

Israel Charges Syrians Fired On Unarmed Town

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel charged that Syrian gunners poured new fire Wednesday night on an Israeli settlement in a demilitarized zone southeast of the Sea of Galilee.

An Israeli army spokesman said one Israeli guardsman was wounded.

He said fire from automatic weapons and mortars hit the Beit Katzir settlement but that fire was not returned from the Israeli side.

The Israeli spokesman made his report from Tel Aviv shortly after an Israeli spokesman there had reported that new firing broke out earlier along the tense, rain-drenched Israel-Syrian border.

At U. N. headquarters in New York, the U. A. R. and Israel accused each other of aggression in complaints to the Security Council. Neither asked immediate council action.

Machine-Gun Blast
The earlier report from Tel Aviv claimed Syrians opposite the southeastern shore of the Sea of Galilee fired machine gun bursts and rifle shots into Israeli territory. The spokesman said the fire was not returned.

The spokesman denied an earlier Damascus report that Syrian soldiers had fired on an Israeli patrol and Israeli machine-guns fired back during the day.

Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, speaking before a labor convention in Tel Aviv, made no direct reference to the border trouble but he said: "During the next decade we are liable to face a grave and perhaps decisive military test."

Deny Forces There
Israel meanwhile denied there are any Israeli forces in the demilitarized zone where the U. N. asked both sides to withdraw. Fighting broke out Friday in the disputed areas southeast of the Sea of Galilee.

Col. Raymond Pirlot, Belgian chairman of the Israeli-Syrian Mixed Armistice Commission, called on both Israel and Syria Tuesday to withdraw all armed civilians and weapons from the zone.

U. S. Commie Mum At Probes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Negro Communist leader scowlingly refused to answer question after question and flung out a string of defiant charges in separate appearances before Senate and House committees Wednesday.

Members of neither committee moved to rebuke the witness, Benjamin Davis Jr., national secretary of the U. S. Communist party since December.

Davis first went before the Senate internal security subcommittee, which is trying to determine whether any change in policy could be expected from the new party regime.

Davis said the subcommittee "seeks to convict people without proper proceedings." Then he tore into the subcommittee chairman,

Race Betting Petitions Due Feb. 23

HARRISBURG (AP)—Groups circulating petitions for harness racing referenda should confine their activity to the period between Feb. 3-23, the chairman of the new Harness Racing Commission said Wednesday.

Chairman L. B. Sheppard said it is the commission's opinion the dates of signing and filing the petitions should coincide with the dates specified for other referenda petitions. This point is not clearly spelled out in the new law authorizing betting at harness tracks.

"The commission certainly has no desire to be an obstacle to the holding of any such referendum unless it is its proper and legal responsibility to do so," said Sheppard in a statement.

"Therefore, to avoid any possibility of rejection or court litigation, I request all groups which are circulating petitions to see to it that they secure at least 5,000 signatures between the dates of Feb. 3 and Feb. 23, regardless of the fact that they may already have a large number of signers."

Some groups have been circulating petitions for the past several days. The 5,000 signatures are required on each petition by the law.

Sheppard also said the petitions must be filed in his office by 5 p.m. on Feb. 23. Those received later, even though postmarked Feb. 23, will not be considered, he said.

Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.), who was not present.

Calling the senator "one of the worst Negro-haters—and of Jewish people as well," Davis said Eastland "ought to be thrown out of Congress."

Then Davis went before the House Committee on Un-American Activities, which is investigating Communist activities and propaganda among youth groups.

"Why don't you subpoena the lynchers of Mack Parker?" Davis called out from the witness stand. Parker was a Mississippi Negro who was snatched from jail and killed two days before he was to go on trial for rape. His killers have never been apprehended.

With a large number of young people in the audience, Davis told the committee: "You're not interested in kids at all. You're just

Shipley Says Many Drivers Need Glasses

HARRISBURG (AP)—About one-third of the five million Pennsylvania drivers probably need corrected vision, the state's leading safety expert said Wednesday.

O. D. (Mike) Shipley, director of the Bureau of Highway Safety, estimated that percentage when he came up for physical reexamination under the new highway safety program announced Tuesday by Gov. David L. Lawrence.

Shipley is slated to become the state's first commissioner of traffic safety when that office is created later this month.

The physical reexamination is one of the principal features of the new program, along with a revised system of suspensions for traffic violations, effective March 1.

Tougher Treatment
The new suspensions will be somewhat stronger for the more serious highway violations; milder for the less serious infractions.

The habitual offender also will come in for tougher treatment.

Starting this summer, all new applicants for a driver's license will have to submit a physical certificate as to their physical fitness to drive.

"We hope to have the medical forms worked out and ready for use by June," Shipley said.

Beginning with the 1961 license renewals, the state will begin re-examining all motorists. The first group to be called will be the some 200,000 drivers licensed before 1924, when the state began testing drivers before issuing a license. Eventually it is planned to have every motorist take a new physical every 10 years up to age 60 and every five years thereafter.

The physically unfit driver is a "serious problem," Shipley said, but "the percentage of drivers who are physically incapable is vastly outnumbered by the lunatic fringe who flout our (highway) laws."

Spanish Dancers Bring High Level Show To Community

By Madalyn Maloney

FOR one not acquainted with the folklore of Spain, and not a student of the dance, it is impossible to adequately describe the program presented at East Stroudsburg College auditorium Tuesday night by Lola Montes and her company of dancers. There was a program of clicking castanets, shimmering ruffled skirts swirling high to reveal scarlet crinolines and shapely legs, and music that was gay, emotional, and satisfying. The applause of a well packed house was an indication that Senorita Montes was tremendously popular, and would, with her troupe, be welcomed enthusiastically should they ever return to the Stroudsburgs.

It would be unfair to mention the evening's triumph without giving special credit to Mel Dangel, the concert pianist who accompanied the dance routines and presented intermission music. A very young man, he was only mildly reeled during his initial solo, a rather dull selection that, to my unskilled ears, sounded much like a beginning student's exercise. It was later, when he swung into compositions more robust and demanding, that audience reaction lifted to near fever pitch. The consensus of opinion after the performance seemed to be that Dangel had been as important a part of the program as the dancers themselves, a shrewd bit of programming on the part of Miss Montes, who thereby guaranteed her audience an evening exclusively "high level."

Seemed Much Alike
To the unschooled, many of the dances seemed much alike. Even so they were pleasing, because of the perfection with which they were performed, and because the dancers were all so attractive to watch and so pleasant to face. Costuming was elegant, ranging from the somber black with sheer mantilla of silver lace worn in one of her numbers by Miss Montes, to the vivid orange and red favored in other selections. The fabrics included sequin-starred velvet, silks, and a pastel-embroidered brocade, rich with glistening crystal, worn by Miss Montes in a dance that began to a minute-like trickle of music that swelled into a lovely romantic theme.

Some of the dances were based upon humor mainly of the boy-meets-girl variety. There was a typical dance from Valencia with Senorita Montes and Manuel Verdugo enjoying a brief flirtation to the amusing nuances of the castanets. (Those castanets are amazingly expressive in the hands of experts!)

Another dance depicted the period of the famous Spanish artist, Francisco de Goya, with Miss Montes wearing a costume that might have stepped out of one of his paintings. Still another told the story of a peasant boy who comes to the city and begins a flirtation with two young ladies, who prove to be a merry match for him. In this Miss Montes was assisted, by Manuel Verdugo and Diego Carrillo.

Entire Company
A fandango from the province of Malaga was danced by the entire company, these being — in addition to those previously mentioned — Olga Martin, Cecilia Miranda, and Diana Villagas. All of the dances were completely authentic, from musical background to costuming, and so bright and sparkling it is only fair to say there was never a dull moment. The finale included a dance from Sevilla, and Bulerias, a dance in which each one tries to outdo the other to a rhythm set by the clapping hands of the rivals. Brought here by the Community Concert Association, this was an unusual evening not soon to be forgotten. For many it was the nearest they will ever come to Spain outside of a travel film, and much, much more satisfying.

Eagles To Make Final Bid To Meet Membership Quota

STROUDSBURG Aerie 1106, Fraternal Order of Eagles, held their regular monthly meeting Tuesday night at the lodge home.

During the meeting, Ernest Rid announced the lodge was 60 short on their quota of 96 new members for the drive ending March 1.

Ridway urged the membership to try to bring in as many new members as possible during the few remaining weeks in the campaign.

— Dance Feb. 20

George Mackey, lodge president, announced a dance will be held Feb. 20 in the lounge to celebrate Washington's Birthday.

A clam bake will also be held Feb. 28 starting at 2 p.m.

Paul Hopper, a past president of the state unit, from Easton, was the main speaker and stressed to those present the need for filling their quota of new members.

The next District 11 meeting will be held in Lehigh Valley Feb. 21, it was announced by Mackey.

Support for the March of Dimes was asked of the members during the meeting.

Treasurer Rod Kitchen and secretary Les Voss gave reports during the meeting.

During the meeting a minute of silence was observed for Paul "Pete" Albertson, a recently deceased member.

Turner Cited For Output Of Corn

IN CONJUNCTION with the Annual Dairy Day, Daniel Turner of East Stroudsburg, R. D. No. 3 was awarded a ribbon from the Pennsylvania Crop Improvement Association for his production of 120 bushels of shelled corn per acre on a 5-acre test plot during 1959.

Speakers for the Dairy Day held at Effort were Harvey Shaffer, Extension Dairy Specialist and Mayore Hinsh, Extension Agronomist, of the Pennsylvania State University.

In his presentation, Hinsh explained the economics of nitrogen fertilization of grasses. He illustrated that very profitable returns can be realized from small initial investments. Also emphasized was the need for lime and soil testing in a farming operation.

Radar's Use Or Mis-Use

The newly drafted traffic safety program announced by Gov. David Lawrence is a forward step with which we agree—with only limited reservations.

Most controversial phase of the 13-point program concerns the use of radar equipment to detect speeding. For the present, at least, radar will be brought into play only as an educational tool. It will be used to detect speeders, who will be stopped and advised to be more careful.

Eventually, we believe, the Legislature will approve radar's use as the basis for arresting drivers who have violated the state's speeding law. It is here that we find cause to sound both our approval and a warning.

We heartily endorse radar's use in Pennsylvania—but only to the extent that it will be limited to State Police and certain other police authorities certified by proper state officials. The state should retain the privilege of revoking such certificates.

Our support is based on the belief that judicious use of radar will help bring about a reduction in the unnecessary slaughter of human lives on our highways.

We strongly oppose, however, radar's mis-use in setting up speed traps by revenue-hungry districts without just consideration for the rights of the motoring public.

We can see no good coming from giving every village constable and township policeman a free rein in the use of radar to hunt down motorists on state-built and maintained highways already patrolled by State Policemen.

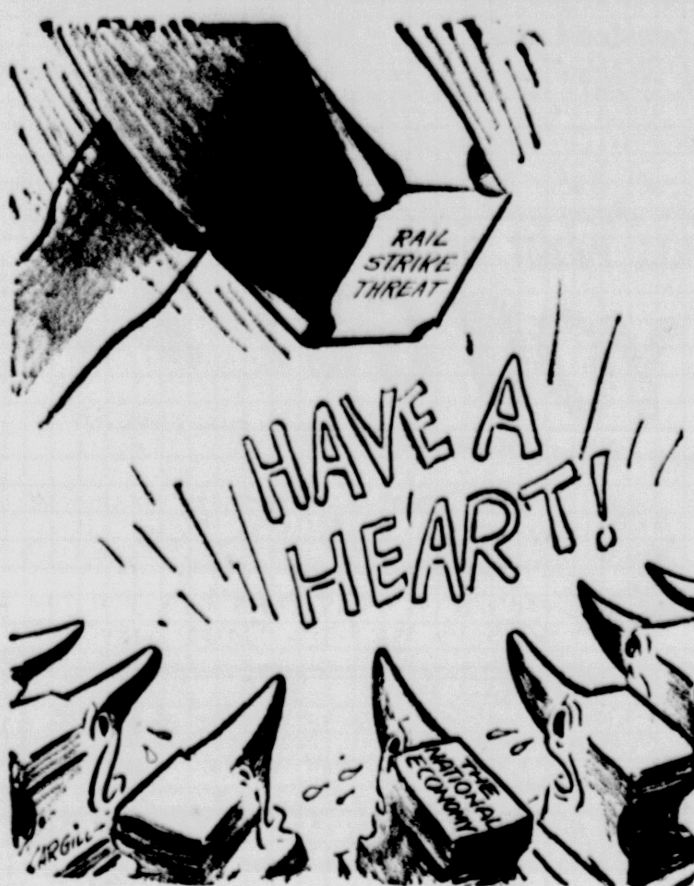

Other phases of Gov. Lawrence's program are less controversial and should win immediate acceptance by every safety-minded citizen.

The one point affecting the greatest number of people calls for the periodic physical examination of drivers starting next year. The first persons subject to the mandatory tests will be the 200,000 drivers who received their licenses before 1924.

A system will be set up to give regular examinations to drivers every 10 years until age 60, after which the exams will be every five years.

In addition, the program includes the use of a new, fool-proof State Police traffic ticket, starting immediately, and the expansion of safety-education and police-training programs.

All are far-sighted steps that merit the backing of every Pennsylvanian. We congratulate Gov. Lawrence and his safety committee for putting them into effect.

More On Cuban Sugar

Manuel Pozo of Havana, Cuba, writes:

"The United States is not subsidizing Cuban sugar. It is higher prices for Cuban sugar. If anybody is being helped by this, it is the American beet croppers. It is to protect them that sugar prices are higher in the American market."

"In other words, sugar producers of the United States must sell at prices above the world market in order to adjust to the American standard of living. That is why Cuban sugar sells at higher prices in the American market, because those prices respond to a national need over there, and not because United States is graciously subsidizing Cuba."

"So it happens with all foreign sugar that is sold over there."

This paragraph raises several important questions. It is a typical Cuban point of view. It is also what one hears in many countries about American aid, namely, that it has made many rich men richer but that it has not reached down to the people.

This is a broad subject that ought to be studied objectively without regard to partisan politics. The criticism will undoubtedly be found to have ample justification, particularly in such countries as Italy.

The United States does pay a premium price for Cuban sugar. The subsidy goes to whoever owns the sugar. Some of it goes to American growers and American sugar companies; some of it goes to Cubans.

The two cents a pound subsidy should be abolished whether American or Cuban companies are concerned. There can be no reason why this subsidy should be continued. There can be no justification for it.

What Pozo claims is that the reason we pay a two cents a pound subsidy to Cuba is not to aid Cuba but to maintain a higher price for American sugar beet raisers.

This happens not to be correct; actually it represents an ingratitude, a failure to understand Cuban-American relations. As far back as 1902, the United States, by treaty, gave Cuba a 20 per cent tariff differential on commodities not on the free list. This was done to aid Cuban industry to establish itself.

Lack of gratitude for American assistance and aid is not unusual; it is universal. The reason is that our generosity is not adequately explained to the people of any country. It is government-to-government aid.

Often, it is American aid which is used to keep unpopular governments in power. The people, rather than appreciating what is being done for them, resent American aid as an interference in their internal affairs.

That is why so many countries want aid "without strings attached." Soviet aid is accepted but there are always invisible strings attached. Pozo has another paragraph: "... you should also understand that, while the world production regime remains as it is now, United States needs to buy Cuban sugar. It cannot secure it, in the amounts required and at the time needed anywhere else."

"Therefore, United States has to buy sugar from Cuba at the higher prices set for its own croppers. It would be disastrous for its industries and workers that depend on sugar supplies, if it did not do so. They would lack the sugar that makes them run. Thus, United States' economy would be hurt."

This is a typical opinion. Many Europeans hold it. Many European refugees, who flee in this country, insist upon it. The idea is that the United States aids countries not to help them but to support the American economy; that the United States must provide economic aid or go under.

It is about time that this country set out to dispel this idea. Our generosity, which has cost the American taxpayer more than $100,000,000,000, is charity. The American taxpayer pays for it as charity. Any other interpretation is untenable.

If an example were made of Cuba, it would be generally advantageous. The question is: Can Cuba live without the American purchase of Cuban sugar or can the United States survive without Cuban sugar?

That is the question which Manuel Pozo asks and it is a question that ought to be answered by a practical demonstration. An immediate act of Congress withdrawing from Cuba all economic advantages so far provided by the United States would prove to the world that when we are generous to a nation, we do it out of the goodness of our heart, not for economic advantage.

Off The Record

By Robert Clark, City Editor

The political pot is boiling. With the primaries not too long off aspirants for public office are starting to make themselves known to one and all.

It should be a great vote-casting year with the presidential race bringing out the many who usually forego primaries and general elections so and with this apparent halting it appears the battle for state assemblyman on the area front will be one which will keep the eyes and ears of the onlookers working 24 hours a day.

The Monroe Democrats will have a set to in the May primaries with incumbent Van D. Yetter taking on Stuart Pipher.

Thus far the Republicans have only Hanford Cleveland in the field for their nomination. However it has been reported that two more candidates may enter the GOP race before the gong rings for the combatants to square off.

The Yetter-Pipher duel is the one to watch. It is known that the Democratic hierarchy is split in favor of both Van and Stu. Yetter, the former county chairman for the Demos, doesn't have the full blessing of all of the powers-to-be as Pipher's entry in the race indicates.

Cleveland, on the other hand, was endorsed by the GOP's executive committee and thus will get his party's full support in both the primary and general election.

The final battle in November could be a renewal of the Yetter and Cleveland past battles. Van won two years ago and Hanford picked up all the marbles and the state seat four years back.

It will be interesting to watch, however, the switching of the Demos in the primary toward either Pipher or Yetter.

A further peek into the crystal ball also might reveal whether the members of the Monroe Democratic organization will band together in November and forget their primary troubles.

It looks from here the November picture will be based on not who is the candidate for the Democratic and Republican parties for assemblyman but who will represent the "Mules" and "Elephants" in the presidential race.

No doubt the fight for the top spot in the United States will bring in with him those who have to hang to his coat tail during his bid for the presidency.

Interpreting The News

Common Market Threat To Britain

By J. M. Roberts Associated Press News Analyst

BRITAIN is delicately warning its continental Allies that if it is damaged economically by the European Common Market, this will interfere with its ability to contribute troops to NATO.

Britain relies heavily upon trade with the continent to pay its military expenses there.

Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd and other British leaders have warned the continental countries of political reaction if their aim for political as well as economic unity should involve their attitude toward international affairs. Britain's relationship with Western European Union, the machinery through which the continent makes its contribution to NATO, would be endangered, Lloyd said.

The United States — which has been making efforts to bring the Common Market, the continental nonmembers and Britain into a larger organization for trade cooperation — has recognized all along the danger to NATO from an economic split.

The Common Market members are establishing a common tariff system while promoting trade among themselves.

In its own defense, Britain has arranged a free trade but not a tariff consortium with Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Austria, Portugal and Switzerland. Everybody is trying to downgrade the idea of trade war, but the potential is there.

Just as serious in the eyes of many British observers is the Common Market as a step toward a politically united Europe.

The United States approves the idea of a United States of Europe. Winston Churchill was one of its early supporters. Britain does not officially oppose but unofficially has always been nervous over any centralization of continental power. Selwyn Lloyd warned the principle of concerted action in such matters as East-West relations, disarmament, and burgeoning nationalism in Africa.

Perhaps one of the greatest British fears, though one it does not emphasize, is the political entente developing between France and West Germany on the heels of increasing economic cooperation.

The Allen-Scott Report

More Benefits Proposed

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — There is highly encouraging news for persons over 65 in the report the Senate Labor Subcommittee on Aging is about to publish.

Strongly recommended is that Congress this year vote a substantial increase in social security benefits, medical care, public housing, job training, and employment rights for the nation's 16 million senior citizens.

The committee's 143-page report also urges that Congress "make a full study of proposals to issue government constant purchasing power bonds for retirement purposes . . . and to establish a U. S. Office of Aging in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare."

These proposals are the major provisions of a 12-point program the subcommittee, headed by Senator Patrick McClellan (D. Mich.), will submit to the Senate. They are the result of the first comprehensive study of the needs and problems of persons over 65 ever undertaken by Congress.

The findings are designed to serve as the basis for legislation to boost the standard of living of the aged — 60 per cent of whom the Subcommittee asserts have incomes of less than $1,000 a year.

The subcommittee's 12-point program is as follows: "Legislation to be enacted in 1960 to expand the system of old-age, survivors, and disability insurance to include health service benefits for all persons eligible for social security."

"Congress to immediately approve a substantial increase in benefits under old-age assistance for all beneficiaries and a raise in minimum benefits from $33 to at least $50 per month."

"Raise the $1,200 ceiling on the amount of money persons can make and still draw social security benefits."

"Congress to begin an immediate study of proposals to issue government constant purchasing power bonds for retirement purposes."

"Enact federal legislation requiring government contractors to review their personnel policies and eliminate all forms of employment discrimination based on age."

"State legislatures should pass laws outlawing all forms of employment discrimination because of age."

"Establishment of a senior citizens' service training program for the purpose of recruiting and training older persons to serve in specified community activities."

"Congress to pass legislation in 1960 authorizing a minimum of 10,000 additional public housing units per year for the low income elderly. Funds for this program should be raised from $50 million to $100 million a year."

"Provisions for essential health and social services to be required in plans for all multiple-housing developments involving direct federal loans to non-profit groups for housing the elderly."

"Congress to consider adoption of a program of financial assistance to nursing homes that meets minimum standards for medical and restorative services set by Department of Health, Education and Welfare."

"Federal grants to be approved to state and local groups for demonstration programs to expand organized community services for health and home services for the aged."

"Legislation to be considered in 1960 to establish a U. S. Office of Aging, concerned full time with problems of persons over 65."

Top problem — The special Senate Committee's report, based on six months of testimony from several hundred witnesses, declares that, "The number one problem of America's senior citizens is how to meet the cost of health care."

Also that, "Its solution should have top priority for legislation considered in Congress during 1960."

To support this contention, the report will publish surveys by both government and private agencies disclosing that "Persons over 65 are now spending between $150 and $240 a year for medical care, or in some cases nearly one-fourth of their total incomes."

Another factor stressed in the report is that the level of income for a majority of the aged is barely above subsistence level. On that the report states:

"A major problem for millions of older persons throughout the nation is how to maintain a decent independent standard of living on an income below or barely at the subsistence level. The studies of the Subcommittee show that at least half of the aged — approximately eight million people — cannot afford today, decent housing, proper nutrition, adequate medical care, or necessary recreation."

The four Democrats favored that — Senators McNamara, John Kennedy, Mass., Joseph Clark, Pa., and Jennings Randolph, W. Va.

Opposing it were Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill., and Barry Goldwater (R., Ariz.). They advocated increasing voluntary health insurance.

Opinions Of Other Editors

How To Get Rich

The Charleston, South Carolina, Post, tells of "An Easy Way to Make a Profit."

This particular way is found in a proposal that comes from a top official of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association. He would take the $200 million or so that the Association has in savings and investment accounts and place the money in high-grade bonds, industrial and governmental. The bonds would yield four, five or more per cent.

The Post observes: "Under present conditions, the co-ops could hardly lose. They borrow money from the federal treasury for two per cent. In the past they have borrowed some $4 billion, and are still borrowing at an annual rate of $200 million. The borrowed money is used to build new plants and expand REA lines into suburbs and towns, since nearly all the farms in the country now have electricity."

This get-rich-quick scheme, of course, would be paid for by all the taxpayers. The two per cent REA loans are financed through government bond offerings that carry an interest rate of four per cent or more.

Well, it's an interesting and novel idea. But why not carry it further? Let the government lend money to all the rest of us at a two per cent rate — and then we too can invest it to bring in a return of double that rate. We'll all get rich without effort, work or worry! —Philadelphia Dispatch

The Pennsylvania Story

Red Faces In Harrisburg

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — There were red faces in Capitol Hill this week but the primary reason for the pink countenances was due to two entirely different reasons.

One was a legislative red face — the other an Administration red face.

Here is what happened and for Pennsylvanians who have an inherent "right to know" what their government is doing, it should be a red warning flag:

Chronically, anti-administration legislative Republicans have complained loudly and bitterly that Pennsylvania's State Department of Highways (under Democrats) has been plagued by lack of future planning — that its plans literally have been running from "day to day."

In fact, lack of such planning and a resultant "lack of need" for additional funds was given by legislative Republicans as one of the reasons why a cent a gallon increase in

Pennsylvania's gasoline tax — as requested by the Democratic Lawrence Administration — was "not necessary."

At the Senate Highways Committee hearing it was brought out by Secretary of Highways Park H. Martin that his agency did indeed have a program — a whopping 12-year $3,000,000,000 program.

Early this week to back up that program highwayman Martin made public the 12-year program — in detail — listing specifically 97 projects involved in the expenditure.

The program, said Secretary Martin, involves an expenditure of $250,000,000 a year if it is to be met.

The detailing of a highway program which many anti-administration lawmakers insisted did not exist this week left many a red face around the legislative round table!

That is one side of the saga of the red face. The other side is this:

The now spotlighted program was kept in the dark recesses of the department and not available for public gaze — until "pressures" forced by the committee hearing made it "advisable" to release details of the well-planned 12-year program.

Why was it held back from public scrutiny — from a public who will use the facilities and to whom both elected and appointed state officials are responsible?

In essence, it was brought out at the hearing, the report was not made public because of the "pressures" that might be exerted, ostensibly from areas not on the schedule or not on it to the degree desired.

In other words it boils down to a typically bureaucratic policy of, in effect, "we have decided and the public be damned."

Both Secretary Martin and his fellow Administration colleagues on Capitol Hill would be the first to deny this — but the fact remains that the philosophy is an inherent one, and it should be noted, one of the basic reasons why Pennsylvania's newspapers went to bed during the 1955 legislative session to successfully have enacted Pennsylvania's current "right to know" and "open meetings" laws, making it mandatory that government records and activities be open to the public.

The current incident smacks closely of another incident that occurred a few years ago when an engineer of the State Sanitary Water Board refused to divulge to this newsman details of a sewage treatment works plan for a city until all arrangements had been finalized on grounds that "the people up there (in the city) might not like what the plan entails!" (The engineer was subsequently fired and the plans duly divulged.)

Knowing Secretary Martin, it is doubtful that the highway program was held up with this intent, but it does point up the need for constant vigilance in the public interest. As an administrative action it was cause for Administration red faces.

THE OLD SWIMMING HOLE—Lempers Rock in the McMichaels Creek, a favorite swimming hole in the past, will be gone when the creek bed is relocated to make way for the new thruway. Also passing away is the "Bend", an old-time swimming, skating spot. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

South Side's 'Bend' Giving Way To Road

By Jim Shafer

WITH THE progress of today many of the old landmarks and childhood haunts are being done away with in one form or another.

The latest haunt to be lost, as a result of the new Thruway, is the area in the South Side of Stroudsburg known for many years as "The Bend."

Dr. Charles Flagler recalls very vividly his days in high school when he swam there. He said, "I remember the time I almost drowned. I probably would have had it not been for Allen Bensinger coming to my rescue."

He recalled that at that time the swimming hole was about 10 or 12 feet long. The swimming hole, he referred to, was the part of the water that was better than six feet deep.

Family Picnics
Another "old timer" (Clarence (Shorty) Shafer, spoke of the days when "The Bend" was a place to take your family for a swim and hold a picnic. He said, "I remember many times that I was back there on picnics. In the winter time, when the skating was good, we even took our lunches with us."

Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, president of East Stroudsburg State College, noted the children skating there almost every winter. He said, "It was a good place for the children to skate because the water was not deep and there was no need for the parents to worry about them falling through the ice. I don't believe the water there was more than two or perhaps three feet deep."

Others that recalled "The Bend" were Atty. George G. Shafer and Elmer (Shad) Walton. Shafer said that the property was owned by the Robeson family, who at one time owned all of the land that is now known as South Side, and their home used to be where Malta Temple now stands on Main St., Stroudsburg. Shafer added, "The area used to be known as Robeson's Grove and I remember attending several Sunday School picnics there."

Duck Farm
Walton recalled the "Old Trout Duck Farm" just a little upstream. "We used to skate up the bend and cross over to one of the many duck ponds. I can remember seeing 4,000 or 5,000 ducks there at one time."

To the present generation it was just another place to skate or swim and now that the new highway will destroy it they will have to turn to a new place for their swimming and skating.

Sees Need For Workers

HARRISBURG (AP)—A Protestant leader said Wednesday churches need to have competent workers who will be available to furnish guidance and counsel for today's young people.

"Many churches are designed to serve only the privileged few who will come to them," said the Rev. Donald Newby, executive director of the Department of Youth Work for the National Council of Churches. "They serve only those that are easy to get."

The New York City clergyman said churches, especially in the larger cities, need to develop new approaches to meet the demands of youth.

William L. Batt Jr., labor and industry secretary, told the council's United Church Women that Gov. David L. Lawrence is urging wide support for national minimum farm wage legislation now pending in Congress.

Batt said most Pennsylvania farmers are paying wages above the national average. He said the legislation would put them in a more favorable competitive position with farmers from other parts of the country.

Bartonsville Man Journeys Through Congo Revolution

BARTONSVILLE—A local man returned to the U. S. Monday after a 25,000 mile trip that took him through one revolution and almost got him involved in another.

Thomas Swink, 63, was detained for about a week in the Belgian Congo during the nationalist rioting. He had his camera and film confiscated.

Swink had planned to visit Algeria and was ready to leave the day the revolt against Gen. Charles De Gaulle's government broke out.

Swink left this country in December aboard the USS Independence, which promptly ran into a severe storm which injured several passengers.

He visited Morocco, Madrid, Barcelona, Rome, Athens and Cairo before the Belgian Congo.

On his return trip, he stopped at Cairo, Rome, Madrid, Portugal and Gibraltar before boarding the Italian luxury liner Vulcania which stopped at the Azores and Halifax, Nova Scotia, before docking in New York City.

Last year, Swink visited Australia and New Zealand, logging approximately 32,000 miles by air and water transportation.

DeGaulle Still Bossman

Play Up Part
The Communists' propaganda consists in playing up the fascists' part in the insurrection. While they are supporting de Gaulle concerning self-determination, they also are sharply criticizing his non-activity since Sept. 16.

Some rightists and fascist student groups have attempted demonstrations in Paris. So far they have been small and a failure. In the week following the insurrection in Algeria the police have been closely guarding the student sections.

One day I came out of class at noon to find more than a hundred police grouped about the square next to the Sorbonne. Propaganda has been heavy from all political groups to encourage demonstrations among the students.

But it is forbidden to gather in groups for demonstrations of any sort.

Not only have the police cracked down on the student quarters but also they have made some 80 arrests of leaders in opposition to de Gaulle. This has been done as a measure of self-protection for the government and against possibilities of an attempt to seize control of the government.

Again Paris, France and Algeria wait impatiently until de Gaulle makes his move. How will he execute his duty towards the country? Which way will the army turn if he refuses to modify his position? What power does de Gaulle still hold over the army in Algeria?

It is doubtful that the army will go against de Gaulle and more particularly the will of the vast majority of France. But the possibility of such an event must be dealt with.

We can submit excellent plans for special structures as Mausoleums, grave covers, or any "custom work" you may desire.

On the agenda will be the setting up of committees and a discussion of such matters as judgments, awards, display of exhibits, preparation of the exhibit hall and the like, Learn said.

Eastburg Sewer Construction Is Described To Kiwanians

CONSTRUCTION of the new sewer system in East Stroudsburg was described yesterday as a necessary civic improvement that will bring many benefits to the area.

Dr. R. Frederick Jones, chairman of the East Stroudsburg Municipal Authority, made the remark at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

He explained that a modern sewage plant is one of the things that will help attract new industries to the borough and added: "We have plenty of space available for the expansion of both private dwellings and industries."

Predicts Good Times

He predicted "good times and good business because of the improvement" and said this was the most progressive step East Stroudsburg has taken in 20 years.

Dr. Jones estimated total cost of building sewer lines, a disposal plant, engineering work and financing at $2,750,000. The system will serve the entire borough and take care of 15 years of normal growth.

Starts Soon

It is hoped to start construction work in the very near future, depending upon weather conditions. Dr. Jones reported, and the plant will be in operation within two years.

"We will be able to extend the lines to Franklin Hill and other built-up sections in about five years," the authority chairman said in explaining a previous reference to plans for expansion.

Weldon Garrison, program chairman, introduced the speaker, Allan Keiper, club president, announced that Kiwanis will sponsor the appearance of a large traveling circus on the Stroud Township firemen's lot, along Route 611, May 23. The proceeds will be turned over to the club's charity fund.

Water Gap Council Delays Action On Tax Millage

DELAWARE Water Gap council delayed setting the tax rate pending the results of the recent tax appeals. They said if the set assessments do not bring in the amount needed the tax millage will have to be increased.

Committee chairmen were named at the session Monday by Phil Farber, council president. They are: Willard Kitchen, water committee; Robert Hay, police and fire; Francis Drake, finance; Russell Shellenberger, street and light.

In the near future, council said, a water survey will be conducted in the village by the council to check all water outlets.

Granted Permission

The Boy Scouts were granted permission by council to make use of the old railroad station to store their paper collections.

The map of the proposed Cherry Valley Street paving has been returned by the state with the assurance that the paving will be started soon.

Plans were made to advertise for a new police car. The present one being purchased in 1958.

Other plans made were the announcement of a "Clean-up Week" sometime in March and that in early spring both Lake Lenape and the Cherry Valley Memorial Park will undergo a cleanup. It was reported that a number of skaters have been making use of Lake Lenape in the past weeks.

Ramps To Be Ready

Council was also informed that the ramps on the new Thruway will be ready for use in the next two or three weeks. Traffic will also travel via Fox-town Hill. At the same time came the announcement that traffic will once again use the toll bridge in Delaware Water Gap.

In closing Russell Shellenberger was appointed to find the grave of Anthony Dutot, founder of the village, and see that the grave is properly marked.

Shellenberger asked that anyone knowing where the grave is located or if they have any information about the grave please contact him at his home.

Sees Action On Development

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa.) said Wednesday he believes the House Rules Committee is on the threshold of acting on area redevelopment legislation.

The committee, which decides when to send legislation to the floor of the House, has kept one such bill inactive since it was approved last year by the House Banking Committee.

The bill would provide 251 million dollars in aid to chronically depressed areas such as Flood's Wilkes-Barre constituency and other areas of Pennsylvania.

'Scientists' Jailed

JOHORE, Malaya (AP)—Two Chinese were arrested here because they tried to launch a space rocket they had made from directions given in an American science fiction magazine. Authorities estimated the 4-foot long wood and steel rocket would have traveled about a quarter of a mile if it had been fired. The students, charged with possessing explosives, were freed with a warning after a plea that their scientific initiative should not be discouraged.

Food Budget Chart For Varying Incomes Helps Homemakers Evaluate Food Costs

By Margaret McLarn

Monroe Co. Home Economist

Money spent for food is probably more flexible than other money a family spends. It is stretched in times of necessity . . . it shrinks in value as market costs rise. Or frequently some of the food money is used to buy a 12-PI set or a bicycle for Junior. When such shifts in spending occur, some type of planning is helpful, to know how much money to allow for adequate food supplies.

USDA Food Plans

The U.S. Department of Agriculture food economists have devised three budget-plans which have helped many families estimate the amount of money they need, or want, to spend for food. Three income levels ($2,000 to $3,000; $4,000 to $5,000 and $6,000 to $8,000) were used to set up Low, Moderate and Liberal plan.

Each plan takes into account the different habits or practices of families at the three income levels. Each plan suggests the amounts and kinds of food to purchase for a balanced, nutritious diet. Costs are estimated by using the average retail food prices collected by the Bureau of Labor Statistics in 46 large cities throughout the United States. The food prices are only average and do not apply to any specific city or region.

Before a family decides on a certain food plan, it needs to take a look at current food expenditures and decide what changes need to be made. In some cases a family may find they need to spend more money or they may find the money being spent is not providing the food their family should be eating.

Details of how a food plan can be worked out for individual families are given in the new

"1959 Yearbook of Agriculture on Food"

How It Works For A Family Of Four

Currently the weekly food costs for a family of four (parents, boy, 11 and girl, 8) using the MODERATE plan averages $23.20 for the United States.

The approximate amounts of food this family would purchase for the week's 21 meal prepared meals are:

19 or 20 quart of milk
16 or 17 lbs. meat
2 or 2½ doz. eggs
10½ or 11½ lbs. cereal
8 to 9 lbs. potatoes
9½ to 10½ lbs. citrus, tomatoes
2 to 3 lbs. green and yellow vegetables
22 to 23 lbs. other vegetables and fruits
2½ to 3 lbs. fats and oils
3½ to 4 lbs. sugar, jellies, etc.

These amounts are only guides for keeping the budget in balance. When some meals are regularly eaten at school or work, the amount of food used at home will be less but the overall food cost will be more. The average food bill varies in different sections of the country, not only because of local price differences, but also because of different buying habits. For example, a Southern family on a MODERATE plan may buy more poultry and fish and do much of its own baking, while the Northeastern family chooses more costly meats and buys more ready to eat baked goods.

Differences in Plans

In general, a LOW cost plan has potatoes, dry beans, and peas, cereal and baked goods. MODERATE cost and LIBERAL plans have more meat, eggs and fruit and vegetables. Milk is prominent in all three plans because it gives good return for money spent.

If many ready-to-eat meals, expensive meats, out of season foods, rare cheeses or specialty foods are chosen, food on a LIBERAL plan could run much higher.

By having a food plan you can estimate:

The cost of adding a new family member; the amount to deduct when a son or daughter goes off to college; what to charge a boarder; how well the family eats.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Howard, 39 Wood St., and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John W. Arnst, 101 E. Henry St., East Stroudsburg.

Amid a setting of mixed white flowers and ferns, the double ring marriage ceremony was performed at Nuptial Mass by Rev. I. E. Schilfalaqua. Traditional wedding music was played by the church organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of white velvet, styled with fitted bodice, Sabrina neckline, long tapered sleeves and bouffant skirt, featuring a ruffle at the bottom.

Miss Gloria Arnst, Philadelphia, sister of the bridegroom, served as maid of honor for the bride. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Thomas, Coatesville, and Mrs. Richard Woolever, East Stroudsburg, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Linda Howard served as junior bridesmaid for her sister.

All attendants wore full length gowns of nylon net over satin, fashioned with fitted bodices, scoop necklines, short sleeves and bouffant skirts. They chose matching bow head-veils and complimentary bouquets. The color scheme of the honor attendant was gold and the other attendants chose blue-green.

Just Between Us

—by Bobby Westbrook

Telling the Junior Woman's Club of the Barrett Community Club members about fashions is like lecturing to Harry Truman on politics or high school cheer leaders on enthusiasm. They not only know fashions, but wear them which is more than I can say about myself.

However, in the case of the Junior Woman's Club, it didn't matter whether I had a speech or not since they had just finished listening to the Choraliers, which is entertaining enough for any club for any one month.

The Choraliers combine music with dramatics, dance, and showmanship in a combination that is most impressive even when your view of the proceedings is restricted to what can be seen through the crack in the hall door.

The display of articles which the Juniors have already made for their bazaar was also an impressive proof of versatility. Everything from stuffed animals made from remnants of their own babies' flannel wrappers to crocodile pot holders and sequined book marks.

Speaking of cracks in the door, did you feel yesterday as if maybe you could peek through a crack into Spring. It was cold and the icicles weren't melting nor the ground thawing but somehow there seemed to be a little extra warmth in the sun, a little jump in the length of the time it lingered.

We have a big clock in the office which I ought to watch more for deadlines if not departure. But there are times when, as I look at it, the minute hand jumps from one minute to the next giving me a panicky feeling that at long last time is really running away.

It's a fallacy, of course, since it still takes 60 minutes to an hour, and it will take many a day of freezing rain and dull skies before you can hope for Spring. But some days do seem to jump ahead.

Music, Fashions, Foibles For Junior Women's Club

The Junior Woman's Club, which contributed $400 to the Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania, a project of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Women's Clubs, received a citation for their contribution.

Women's Medical College is the only medical college for women in this hemisphere and the only medical college in the world with a woman president.

At the club meeting, held at the Stroud Community House, the Choraliers of East Stroudsburg High School under the direction of Kenneth Raessler, presented a short concert. They combined Indian dances, pantomime and humor to their songs, concluding with the stirring "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Mrs. Horace Westbrook, family fare editor of The Daily Record, reported on the National Press Week of the National Culture Group which she covered for the seven Ottawa newspapers in January.

Emphasizing that fashion is not a matter of whim of the designers but an outgrowth of the life and thought of the times, she showed how the widened shoulders, large sleeves, slim dresses with their tunics, abstract silhouettes and colors and designs reflect the uncluttered look of today's architecture, art, and space mindedness.

She also gave thumbnail sketches of some of the designers and highlights of the entertainment arranged for the fashion press.

Mrs. Numa Snyder introduced the Choraliers and Mrs. Lawrence Levy the speaker.

Mrs. Robert Payne presided at the business meeting when work parties were announced for the bazaar. Many of the articles already made for the bazaar, scheduled for April 9, were on display at the meeting. Mrs. Stanley Grace is collecting cookie recipes from members.

The Wyckoff Shopper

"the friendly store" A.B. Wyckoff STROUDSBURG, PA.

There may be no formal observance of the birthday in the average American home . . . yet every time we press a button to turn on the electric light . . . every time we turn a dial to hear our favorite radio program . . . or seek out a new channel for a special TV show . . . we will, in a way, this next Thursday, February 11th, be celebrating the birthday of Thomas Alva Edison.

Thomas Edison is a synonym for electricity in the minds of the American public, just as George Washington is the synonym for patriotism. For the most part, we accept our country and electricity as routine . . . an heritage to which we were born, and one that only on very special occasions inspires us to sing anthems of praise.

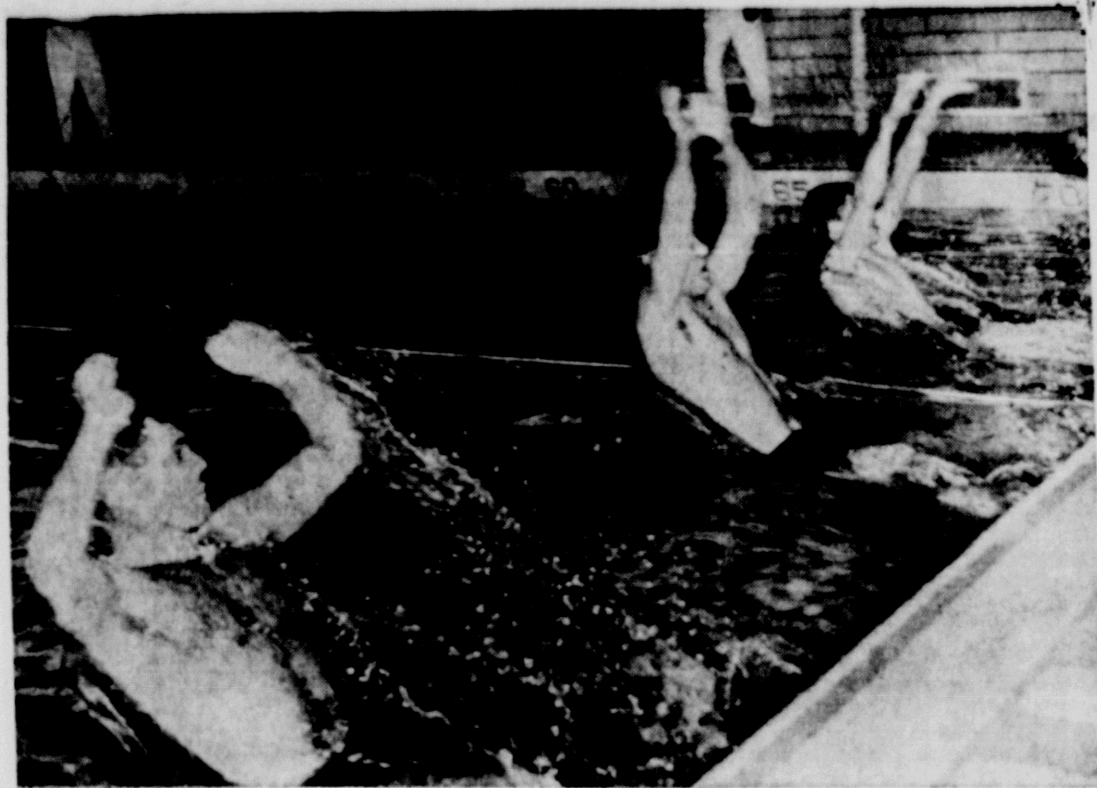

We take a great deal for granted, we Americans. Along about now when we are meeting with accountants for advice on our income tax return, we may complain about the amount Uncle Sam draws from our pay each week. And when we sit down to make out the household checks we may lament about our never-ending electric bills. Too rarely do we pause to consider what life might be in a frenzied land with no government at all, should such a dreadful condition exist anywhere; or what it would be in even our own law-regulated land without modern conveniences such as Mr. Edison's electric energy.

Just walking through our store, I see innumerable monuments to this man's genius . . . just looking around my kitchen and my home I find I am enjoying many others. Life would be pretty difficult for the working mothers of today without their electric washers, dryers, dish washers, refrigerators, freezers, toasters, vacuum cleaners, percolators, fry pans, and waffle irons. It would be pretty dull without record players, motion pictures, and teletype machines. Health-wise it could be pretty unbearable without fluoroscopes and electrically operated therapy machines.

I now learn for the first time, thanks to a communication from the J. Walter Thompson Company, that Edison also invented wax paper and gummed wrapping tape. So—all things considered, every department store such as ours should pay high tribute to the birthday of this memorable man. Had he not been born, the stock in Wyckoff's, for instance, would be a lot smaller than it is today. Come to think of it, if you need a new electric appliance for your home, why not invest in it now? Give yourself a gift of electric efficiency on the birthday of the man who made it possible! You can, you know, by using Wyckoff's easy budget plan.

ESSC Swimmers Win 2nd

STARTING SPLASH—Four swimmers push off in the start of the 200-yard backstroke in yesterday's swim meet between East Stroudsburg State College and Wilkes College. Ray Kessler (head visible far right) won the event in 2:52.3. Wilkes swimmer (left) eyes other starters to make sure no one is fudging.

Everything Is Free To The Boxers

HARRY WILL FEED the boys, provide dressing and shower facilities and if a boy does not have transportation to the farm, Freedman will send a car for the boy.

And the whole arrangement won't cost the boxers a cent. Freedman is footing the whole bill.

The plan is to get enough boys from each surrounding town, Stroudsburg, Easton, Bangor, Washington, N. J., etc., to form a team to represent each town. When the amateurs have completed their training they will be matched against competing towns.

Outside Bouts Planned As Boys Improve

"We also plan to hold bouts outside clubs," says the resort owner, "such as Scranton's Friends of Boxing." The first matches are tentatively scheduled for the middle of April. "Of course it will depend on how well the boys develop," says Freedman.

Training sessions will begin at nine each morning with road work and will last until noon. There will be a special session in the afternoons for boys who attend high school or college.

Laise Tosses New Monroe County Match Mark: Bill Laise threw the high match of the year in Monroe County Tuesday at Colonial Lanes.

Bowling for Nebel's Market, Laise hit the pins for games of 243-222-238 and a 703 match.

Oscar Stuckey, who bowls in the same league as Laise, the Pocono Major loop, held the previous high, a 697 affair.

Even with the high series, Laise and Stuckey failed to win the high single title for the night they threw their record tries.

Freedman Passes Up Florida Trip This Year: For the past 12 years, Harry Freedman has migrated to Florida during the winter.

But this year, the boxing harem of Monroe County and owner of Harry's Farm, across from Fred Waring's establishment, has forsaken the southern trip and is riding out the winter at his resort.

And now that Harry has run out of books to read and television to watch, he is looking for some excitement.

Amateur Boxing Planned For Pocono Area: So he is organizing a unique amateur boxing set-up to offer local boys a chance to show their stuff.

Beginning February 15, Freedman will register local boxers, both novices and boys who have done some work in the ring before, for his boxing association.

Freedman will train the boys at his farm, where such boxing names as Jimmy Carter, Nino Caldes, Will Beamanoff, Paddy Young, Paul Andrews and Hurricane Jackson have tuned-up for fights.

Pro Boxing Too Corrupt For Resort Owner: Jackson caused Freedman so much trouble in 1958 that he decided to forego the pro belt.

Now, Freedman, who had a pretty fair record as an amateur fighter, is anxious to get back in the fight game but he wants to stick with the amateurs for the present. "Pro boxing is too corrupt now," says Freedman.

The boys who show promise will begin their ring training the first week of March. Freedman will provide everything the young boxers need except trunks, sweat shirt and shoes. "I'm having the ring put up next week," says Freedman, "and all the other equipment such as light and heavy bags, ropes and gloves are available."

Ross Heads Stars In Ruth Event

The rest of the college crew has not been named for the Babe Ruth League benefit game at the East Stroudsburg State College gym.

Three Scorers: The Madisons, leading the Eastern Basketball League, have a trio of high scorers to face the collegians.

Hal Lear, former Temple All-American is third in the loop in point production with 601 points and a 33.4 average. Richie Gaines, the Seton Hall great is fifth with 506 total and a 28.1 mark while Wally Choice is sixth with a 26.5.

Scribes Name No One To Hall Of Fame

BOSTON (AP)—For the second consecutive time, the Baseball Writers Assn. of America Wednesday failed to elect a player to the Hall of Fame in its biennial balloting.

Seventy-five per cent of the total votes cast is necessary for election and the coldest candidate, according to the announcement by Hy Hurwitz secretary-treasurer of the association, was Ed Roush who polled 54 per cent.

There were 269 eligible ballots—highest figure in history—cast by 10-year members of the association, making 202 votes necessary for election.

Roush Gets 146

Under present rules a player must have played in a period not more than 30 years before the voting and stopped playing five years prior to the election.

This means that Roush will not be eligible the next time the writers vote, in 1962.

Roush was closely followed by outfielder Edgar (Sam) Rice with 143 and southpaw pitcher Eppa Rixey with 142.

They were the only players to get over 100 votes.

There are 83 former players now in the Hall of Fame, Hank Greenberg and Joe Cronin, elected in 1956, were the last to join baseball's immortals.

Former Senator

Rice, who will be 68 later this month, played all but one of his 20 major league seasons with Washington as an outfielder.

Rixey's reputation came to light strongly last summer when Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves surpassed his National League record of 265 victories by a left-hander. Four times in his 21 years Rixey produced 20 or more victories.

Wall Not Listed

Palmer, Not Arnold, Leads Desert Golf

By James Bacon

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Johnny Palmer, a 41-year-old pro who gave up touring five years ago, Wednesday night found himself tied for the first-round lead with four others in the $100,000 Palm Springs Desert Classic, the world's richest golf tournament.

Palmer, pro at the Tulsa Country Club, was tied with Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa.; Tony Lama of San Leandro, Calif.; Bob Goalby of Crystal River, Fla.; and Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn. All shot 67s.

Eight Tie

Lloyd Mangrum of Apple Valley, Calif.; Frank Stranahan, Crystal River, Fla.; Leo Biagetti, Ashland, Ohio; Al Bessellink, Grossinger, N.Y.; Earl Stewart Jr., Dallas, Tex.; Dutch Harrison, St. Louis; John McMullen, Fair Oaks, Calif., and Harry Weetman of London, England, were next at 68.

Scores were higher than expected for the windless, overcast weather. This was due, no doubt, to the pro gunning for aces on par-three holes on four comparatively easy courses.

A $50,000 cash prize will be awarded for a hole in one.

Herded at 69 were Bob Goetz, Jimmy Hines, Bo Winston, Jackie Burke Jr., Bill Johnston, Lionel Hebert, Johnny Bulla, Fred Hawkins, Babe Lichardus, Mike Homa and Jimmy Demaret.

Hockey Results: Toronto 4, New York 2

Six Hour Grind

Endurance Race Booked For Ice

A SIX-HOUR sports car endurance race is booked Sunday on Lake Naomi.

Officially titled the "Six Hours Grand Prix D' Ice," the event gets under way at 10 a. m.

In the past two ice seasons at Lake Naomi, four hour races have been run but the six hour event is new and unique in that it is mandatory for cars to stop at least once during the race to change drivers and be checked for mechanical failure.

Good ice conditions are forecast for the endurance run and between 50 and 60 cars are expected to get the green flag.

The race will also weigh heavily in the battle for the "1960 Ice King"

Al Stout, retired engineer from Mendenhall, Pa., is currently on top in the standings. Stout in a GT Saab has won three of the feature races held this year and was second in the other.

Trailing Stout are Ken Gee, a chemist from Bethlehem, also a Saab pilot and J. Ward Allen, an undertaker from Endicott, N. Y., who drives a Triumph. Stout is the defending ice champ.

Two local sports car drivers, Alex Coles of Shawnee in an Austin-Healey 3,000 and Mrs. Nancy Smith of Stroudsburg in a Porsche are expected to enter the race.

Mrs. Smith is battling Alvina Ostrowski of Belleville, N. J. for the "Ice Queen" title.

Dodgers' Howard Is Newest Prospect To Beat Babe Ruth's Homer Record

By Del Booth
COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — The word seems to be out that Frank Howard, the 6-foot-8 athlete from Ohio State, will be one of baseball's coming great sluggers. Everyone who has seen him swing a bat raves about the Columbus, Ohio, native.

Ernie White, a pitcher who won 17 games for the 1941 St. Louis Cardinals and a resident of Spartanburg, S.C., saw enough of Howard to talk of him being another Babe Ruth.

Under Pillow
"There's a player headed for the majors (with the Los Angeles Dodgers) who will put Babe Ruth's home run record (60 in one season) right under the pillow," White began recently. "I'm talking about Frank Howard, the outsized outfielder who's the best major league prospect I've ever seen."

"He can tear the ball in half with his 245 pounds. He could play right field without taking a step. He's good at third or first, too. And he's only 22."

White managed Austin to the Texas League playoff title last year, and before Howard was shifted to Spokane in the Pacific Coast League, he saw a lot of Howard with the Victoria Rosebuds.

Moves Up
In 63 Texas League games last year Howard batted .356 and blasted 27 home runs. Almost one-third of his hits were homers and he hit the ball out of the park once every 10 trips to the plate. Howard was so phenomenal in Double A ball that the Dodgers moved him to Triple A.

HOOK SLIDING: Frank Howard, despite his 6-foot-8 size, shows good sliding form. However, the Los Angeles Dodgers paid him a huge bonus to sign in March, 1958, on the strength of his slugging.

Howard was signed by the Dodgers in the Spring of 1958 off the Ohio State campus where he starred in baseball and basketball. That year he hit 37 homers and batted .333 for Green Bay, Wis., in Class B. At the end of the year he went with the Dodgers and hit one homer in eight games. He finished last season with the Dodgers and had one homer in nine games.

The Dodgers are reported to have signed Howard for a $100,000 bonus on a five-year basis. The 245-pound Howard has two options left but the way White raves about him the chances are these options may never be used.

Reiser's Tutoring
The Dodgers have had Pete Reiser close to Howard ever since he reported to Green Bay where Pistol Pete managed. Last year, Reiser had him at Victoria and this winter Reiser managed Escogito in Puerto Rico where Howard continued his ball blasting.

The Dodgers have moved Reiser to the big club and this Spring he will be spending some time at Vero Beach to keep Howard's big bat in the strike zone.

Frick, Rickey Hold Conference

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick and Branch Rickey met Tuesday for about 40 minutes to talk over procedure in what was described as an amicable session.

Frick said it was likely that a series of meetings would be held with Rickey. Other than to note that they discussed the certain requirements already outlined by the majors for the Continental. Frick declined comment. Only the two men attended the meeting at the commissioner's office.

Stroudsburg Lions Set For 35th Birthday

THE Lions Club of the Stroudsburg was 35 years old last December. On Tuesday, February 16th it will celebrate its 35th charter night.

Dr. Paul R. Maxwell will bake the birthday cake. Lions International Counselor Robert Miller of Tamaqua, Pa., whose birthday is the same day said he would come if the good doctor would bake a cake.

Lost Charter

The club had planned to use its original charter in the ceremonies but it cannot be found. It was available ten years ago for the 25th anniversary celebration. It was reported loaned to a member.

Past International President Frank V. Birch of Milwaukee is flying here to take part in the affair. The Waring Choir will entertain, while still other entertainment is proposed.

Twenty-one Old Monarch Chevrons will be awarded to Lions who are still members of the club. These are for length of service and range from 10 years to 33, or charter members.

42 Years Old

Lionism began 42 years ago in Texas with 25 clubs. The Stroudsburgs was club number 8120. There are now 14,723 clubs in 104 countries of the world. Over 600,000 Lions are active club members.

Lion President William C. Kopenhaver extends an invitation to all past members of the club to attend and renew old acquaintances. The dinner-meeting tickets at $3 will begin at 6:30 p.m., Tuesday, February 16, 1960.

Patrolman Gaylord Heberling and Robert Rediz said they saw him enter his car at Third and Main Sts., Stroudsburg, and that it veered from one side of the road to the other while driving toward the interborough bridge.

The patrolmen said they made two unsuccessful attempts to stop Shaffer as he pursued him into East Stroudsburg. Heberling finally pulled him from the car when he slowed at the intersection.

ESSC Commissary Head Speaks At Lions Meeting

STROUDSBURG Lions at their dinner-meeting Tuesday night in the Penn-Stroud hotel heard reports on coming club events and an address on the commissary department of East Stroudsburg State College and checked the attendance contest now proceeding.

President William Kopenhaver urged all Lions to attend the thirty-fifth charter night celebration which will be featured at the Penn-Stroud on Tuesday Feb. 16 when a past international president will address the club. This will be a stag event.

On Tuesday night, March 15 the club will pay tribute to St. Patrick's Day with a program of speaking, singing and feasting. William P. Deering, representing O'Shanley's Irish Lions, told of the plans for the party.

In the attendance contest, two clubs are tied for the lead each with a score of 14 points. These are the teams of Captains Joseph Michel and John M. Price.

President Kopenhaver reported on the recent charter night of the Tobhanna club stating that Stroudsburg Lions won many prizes at the event.

Les Rossi, cuisine manager at State College, told of his work which is done under the auspices of a company specializing in managing commissaries in colleges, hospitals and factories. The speaker said that this company manages food problems of seven colleges.

At the local college, he said, all food is prepared on the premises.

Many problems arise in a project, he noted, the least being that of having ample food supplies on hand at all times and having no interruption or delay in the food service.

All food is prepared the day it is served, Rossi said and that means 14 meat courses and 14 salads each week.

He told of the large quantities of prepared and concentrated foods, saying that this situation was governed to some degree by the difficulty of getting competent chefs a very different state of affairs than that which existed in previous decades.

East Stroudsburg Resident Jailed On Driving Charge

JONATHAN S. Shaffer, 32, of 70 Smith St., East Stroudsburg, was committed to Monroe County Jail in default of $500 bail yesterday on charges of drunken driving.

He pleaded guilty at a hearing before Peace Justice Floyd W.

Shaffer was arrested by Stroudsburg police at N. Courtland and Washington Sts., East Stroudsburg, at 7:05 p.m. Tuesday. Patrolman Gaylord Heberling and Robert Rediz said they saw him enter his car at Third and Main Sts., Stroudsburg, and that it veered from one side of the road to the other while driving toward the interborough bridge.

The patrolmen said they made two unsuccessful attempts to stop Shaffer as he pursued him into East Stroudsburg. Heberling finally pulled him from the car when he slowed at the intersection.
